

WEEKLY SITE UPDATE

Wing Shack Co Chatham weekly update.

Here is what happened at the site this week: how busy it was, where demand came from, and what to watch next.

↑ Strong demand week

 22–28 Jun 2026

01 — OPERATOR READ

Good demand week. Speed and temperature are the things to fix.

54 ORDERS FULFILLED

36 came through Uber Eats and 18 through Deliveroo. Build your prep volumes around this — 54 is a solid week and the trend is upward.

BUNDLES ARE DRIVING UBER BASKETS

Uber average order was £29.34. Deluxe Bundle for 1 and Snuggle Bundle for 2 are pulling the ticket size up. Keep bundle components prepped and consistent.

ADS PULLED REAL DEMAND IN

Uber orders jumped from 9 to 36 vs the prior period. Half of all Deliveroo orders used a marketer offer. When the ads are on, the kitchen needs to be ready.

SPEED AND TEMPERATURE FLAGGED

Uber's average total order duration was 47.86 mins and two items were flagged in ratings — one cold, one possible delivery temperature issue. These are the priority fixes.

02 — DAILY RHYTHM

Where the week had its shape.

Both platforms per day. Midweek Deliveroo demand pushed Wednesday and Tuesday into the best combined days. Uber held the weekend on its own.

Where the orders came from.

Uber Eats drove three-quarters of sales and higher-value baskets. Deliveroo contributed 18 orders and helped spread reach across a different customer base.

UBER EATS

£1,056.09 · £29.34 AOV

DELIVEROO

£357.31 · £19.85 AOV

Uber drives the workload and basket size. Deliveroo offers broadened reach with marketer-offer discounts helping bring 9 of its 18 orders in this week.

04 — ITEM WINNERS

What customers actually bought.

Keep these prepped and consistent. They are driving revenue and orders across both platforms. Watch temperature and packaging on the top two.

✓ ZERO INACCURATE ORDERS

No inaccurate orders flagged on Uber this week. Clean fulfilment across 35 completed orders.

⚠ 2 CANCELLATIONS

Both on Tue 23 Jun — one by restaurant, one by customer. Monitor Tuesday pattern going forward.

What customers said.

Mixed signals. Customers who get hot food fast leave 5 stars. The low ratings this week came from delivery speed and one food quality complaint.

ITEM QUALITY FLAGS

Mac N Cheese Bites — one Uber item rating tagged cold/melted. Check serving temp and packaging seal before dispatch. · Banging Buffalo Loaded Fries — rated 1 star but tagged "good portion", suggesting a delivery temperature issue rather than the item itself.

What created the demand.

Ads and marketer offers worked hard this week on both platforms. Uber ROAS of 7.75x means every £1 in ad spend returned £7.75 in attributed sales. Deliveroo offer orders made up half of all Deliveroo orders.

UBER EATS ADS — THIS WEEK

7.75x ROAS	£796 AD SALES	£103 AD SPEND	28 AD ORDERS
6,377 IMPRESSIONS	454 CLICKS	7.12% CTR	£3.67 COST / ORDER

DELIVEROO MARKETER OFFERS

9 orders used marketer offers	£70.65 total discount
9 of 18 Deliveroo orders used a marketer offer — half of all Deliveroo demand was offer-driven this week. Offers are actively pulling in customers.

UBER EATS CONVERSION FUNNEL — THIS WEEK VS LAST

4,069 Shop views	↓ 12.3% shop-to-menu
499 Menu views	↓ 11.0% menu-to-order
149 Added to cart	↓ 36.9% add-to-order
55 Orders placed
Menu-to-order conversion jumped from 4.9% (last period) to 11.0% this week — more than double. Ads and offers are turning browsers into buyers.

What the kitchen takes into next week.

01 KEEP MAC N CHEESE BITES HOT AND FRESH

32 sold this week — the highest volume item on Uber. One customer flagged cold/melted in their item rating. Check serving temperature and packaging before every dispatch.

02 REDUCE UBER COURIER WAIT AND ORDER DURATION

Average courier wait was 7.93 mins with 3.04 mins avoidable. Total order duration averaged 47.86 mins. Uber low ratings mentioned slow delivery directly. Tightening dispatch timing will protect the rating.

03 STOCK UP FOR WED, FRI, SAT PEAKS

Wednesday was the peak sales day at £210. Friday and Saturday ran 7 orders each — the busiest kitchen days of the week. Run higher stock on Mac N Cheese Bites, Loaded Fries, and bundle components on these three days.

04 KEEP BANGING BUFFALO LOADED FRIES CONSISTENT

24 sold across both platforms — the cross-platform hit. One 1-star item rating, though tagged "good portion" — the issue is likely delivery temperature, not the item. Watch packaging and timing.
